

The Aftermath of Flu

This is No. 1 of a series of advertisements, prepared by a competent physician, explaining how certain diseases which attack the air passages—such as Pneumonia, Influenza, Whooping Cough, Measles or even a long continued Cold—often leave these organs in an inflamed, congested state, thus affording a favorable foothold for invading germs. And how Vick's VapoRub may be of value in this condition.

Your doctor will impress upon you that following recovery from the active stage of influenza, there often remains an inflamed, congested condition of the air passages—throat, larynx, bronchial tubes and lungs.

Frequently the cough hangs on—soreness of the chest persists—you take cold easily and there may be obstinate catarrh. This condition is slow to clear up and if neglected may favor the development of pneumonia, or later on, serious disease of the lungs.

Such cases should continue under the care of their physician—should exercise moderately in the open air—eat plenty of wholesome food—avoid overwork and sudden chills.

Nightly applications of Vick's VapoRub may help nature to complete the process of repair. Because Vick's acts locally by stimulation thru the skin to draw out the inflammation, attract the blood away from the congested spots and relieve the cough. In addition, the medicinal ingredients of Vick's are vaporized by the body heat. These vapors are breathed in all night long, thus bringing the medication to bear directly upon the inflamed areas.

Vicks should be rubbed in over the throat and chest until the skin is red—then spread on thickly and covered with hot flannel cloths. Leave the clothing loose around the neck and the bed clothes arranged in the form of a funnel so the vapors arising may be freely inhaled. If the cough is annoying, swallow a small bit of Vicks the size of a pea.

Samples to new users will be sent free on request to the Vick Chemical Company, 231 Broad Street, Greensboro, N. C.

WESTERLY

Alexander Marshall, colored, formerly in the employ of the R. A. Sherman's Sons company, has disappeared, and his whereabouts are expected, as to his whereabouts. He is an ardent devotee of the Advent church and is extremely religious in his talk and actions.

Mr. Marshall lived alone in a basement at the rear of the Commercial bazaar. He had been in the river. There was a leak in the water pipes in the basement above the basement rented by Marshall, and it was necessary to get into the basement to stop the leak. The door was locked and no response came to repeated calls to open the door. Finally a window was raised and entrance effected. The water pipes were found frozen. There was no trace of Marshall.

Marshall did not return to work Monday of last week, nor did he call for his pay envelope. He had worked on the previous Friday and had not been seen by his employer since. Marshall left no word that he was to remain away from his work, which is contrary to his custom, therefore his absence is classed among the mysterious. So far as known, no one in this vicinity has seen Marshall in the last ten days.

The taxpayers of Westerly, several weeks ago, in town meeting, accepted the proposition of The Ninigret company for the purchase of Riverside park. The purchase price was $5,000, and that sum was to be set aside for the purchase of a playground, baseball field and for general best sports. A new location has been practically selected, but up to the present time no purchase has been made, although immediate action in regard to the sale was urged in the town meeting. A member of the school committee stated that it was expected the transfer would be made this week.

There is rumor, however, that The Ninigret company may not need the Riverside park land in connection with the proposed extension of their local plant as the company already possesses adequate land for the proposed building and that the proposed plan to expend $200,000 in new building in Riverside park may not materialize.

Constructive work has begun on the new buildings to be added to the plant of the Lorraine Manufacturing company in Mechanic street, Pawcatuck. The starting of this work will now go forward as planned. The plan proposed means a plant larger than that of the Bradford Dyeing association at Bradford and the new mill will be equipped with the most modern of the latest and the plant will be operated exclusively by electricity, with motors for each set of looms. When the extensive additions are completed and fully equipped, the machinery in the present plant will be replaced by more modern machinery and will also be operated by electric motors. The first units of the new section of this plant carries an expenditure of $200,000 which does not include the amount required to build houses to meet the requirements of the largely increased number of operators.

Only seventeen legislative days remain for the present session of the general assembly, at the sixty days for which the members can draw $5 a day and mileage will have been reached. In the opinion of some assemblymen the session will be extended beyond the sixty days period by reason of important legislation that is in late and is entitled to proper consideration. The members receive per diem pay for actual attendance, which insures a full membership at every session.

The Chelsea soon after being burned, was sold by the Norwich and New York Property company, at a fancy price, said to be equal to the original price of the boat and the new owners intended to convert the Chelsea into an ocean going tug. This was during the war. The Chelsea was towed to Stonington and there she has remained without a change in condition repair work not having been commenced. The Chelsea was built in Wilmington, Delaware, about thirty years ago, and her only service was between Norwich and New York, with regular stops at New London.

In the morning there was a preliminary meeting and the subject was discussed with local Protestant clergymen.

He dwelt on the survey of hospitals and homes made by the movement, and said, "In the field of humanitarian effort the church has always led the way."

"The church hospitals and church homes for the aged and for defenseless children have always been beacon lights in American communities. These will be continued on an expanding scale as provision is made in the survey of the Inter-Church World Movement for meeting this unfinished task."
